City Operating Levy Fails To Pass By Only 63 Votes

Crites Warns Again Of Need For More Cash

First Impressions Were That Voters Had OK'd Proposal

A proposed additional operating levy for Circleville city government expenses failed to win approval at the polls in Tuesday's balloting by a margin of 63 votes.

The Pickaway County Board of Elections made the announcement yesterday after first impressions were widespread that the levy, proposing one mill additional, had passed. A total of 2,242 voters were in favor of the proposal, while 1,599 voted against it.

The elections board pointed out that the levy had failed to get a necessary 60 percent approval. Another Circleville levy, proposed for city schools, required only majority vote and was passed, 2,661 to 1,367.

NEWS OF the city levy rejection came as a jolt to city hall officials and many others. The narrow margin of defeat had escaped most of those who merely glanced at final figures of the tally.

First to comment officially on the levy's defeat was Chairman George Crites of city council's finance committee. He and other city officials have frequently warned that Circleville may have to face a municipal income tax unless a new major source of revenue is found.

On the defeat of the levy, Crites said: "I'm mighty sorry to hear about it, and to know especially that it lost by such a small margin."

"All I can say is what I've already warned before. We're going to have to get more money for the city somewhere—and before very long, too."

"We'll try once more to get a better share out of the county from the local government fund, but if we don't succeed in that, it's likely we're going to have to get serious about the city income tax."

"It's been a gloomy prospect for a long time now, and shouldn't come as a shock to anyone. I don't like additional taxes any better than anyone else."

"But who has a better idea?"

Reds Praise Ike As Man Of Peace

LONDON (AP)—In messages of congratulation, Soviet Premier Nikoлай Bulganin and President Klementi Y. Voroshilov today praised President Eisenhower as a man of peace.

The tributes, on the occasion of President Eisenhower's re-election, were broadcast by Moscow radio, Bulganin said.

"You are known to us as a great statesman and leader of the U. S. A. who is striving for the relaxation of international tension and the establishment of peaceful and fruitful relations between all states and nations, as well as the establishment of such relations between our countries. We were and are supporters of the most fruitful and friendly relations between our nations and our states."

U. N. Pushing Police Force Program Despite Opposition

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations pushed ahead today with its plans for formation of a Middle East police force despite Israeli defiance and British-French refusal to withdraw from the Suez Canal Zone until the U. N. troops are on the spot.

The General Assembly, after an all-day debate, Wednesday night approved Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld's plan for the emergency force to police the cease-fire in Egypt and supervise withdrawal of foreign troops.

The Assembly resolution asked the new U. N. command headed by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns "to proceed forthwith with the full organization" of the force. The Assembly also adopted a resolution calling on Britain and France "immediately to withdraw forces from Egyptian territory" and on Israel to pull out of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and Gaza Strip, the territory she occupied in her sweep into Egypt.

Israel's refusal to cooperate with the U. N. force was announced to the Parliament in Jerusalem by Premier David Ben-Gurion.

He said Israel would not agree to the stationing of a foreign force "in her territory or in any of the area occupied by her."

Hammarskjöld told the Assembly that if the Israeli troops did not withdraw to the Palestine armistice line after the U. N. force arrived, he would go to the General Assembly or the Security Council "for such measures as those two main organs of the United Nations might decide upon."

Britain's chief delegate, Sir Pierson Dixon, told the Assembly if British and French troops occupying the northern sector of the canal zone "were withdrawn before a United Nations force were to arrive and take control, the separation of Egypt and Israel which we have achieved would break down."

The United Nations force might arrive too late to prevent a new conflagration.

Egyptian Delegate Omar Loutfi has insistently called for the British, French and Israeli troops to get out at once. He declared that "nothing can be done until the withdrawal is carried out."

The vote approving Hammarskjöld's plan for the force was 64-0, with Egypt, Israel, South Africa and the Soviet bloc abstaining.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov charged that the plan "is an open attempt to secure a decision suitable to the United Kingdom and France."

Neither was there concrete evidence to substantiate Eisenhower's contention that "modern Republicanism" had achieved a victory. On the contrary, it appeared that the personal popularity which gave him 41 states and 457 electoral votes did not sift down to general GOP candidates.

Increased antagonism by the new Congress about that displayed by the Democratic 84th to some of Eisenhower's proposals seemed likely to make itself felt primarily on domestic issues.

THE NARROWNESS of party margins in both Senate and House made it certain that on most issues final decisions, as in the last four years, would be made by two-party coalitions rather than on strict party lines.

A still undecided Kentucky senatorial race seemed likely to decide the firmness of Democratic control over that body.

In the House the Democrats had elected 229 members, 11 more than the necessary majority, to the Republicans' 199. Democrats were leading in 6 of the 7 undecided races.

The present division is 232-203.

Youth Said Suicide When Hit By Train

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 17-year-old youth who was killed today when hit by a New York Central freight train apparently committed suicide, police reported.

He was identified by Police Lt. George Vicarelli as Steve Duh Jr. of Cleveland.

The lieutenant said engineer Louis Wood of Holland, Ohio, and other members of the train crew told him the youth walked out from behind some freight cars parked on an adjoining track and lay down in the train's path.

Lausche May Avoid Senate Reorganization Maneuvers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's Sen. Elect Frank J. Lausche hinted today he might let his fellow Democrats organize the U. S. Senate without him.

In response to a direct question whether he would vote with the Republicans to organize that body, the five-term Democratic governor made this statement: "I will finish my term as governor of Ohio. If the Senate is not organized by the time I am sworn in, I will then cast my vote, taking into consideration the composition of the Senate, the fact that Eisenhower is President and such other matters as I believe are pertinent."

Lausche let it be known as early as last June that, if elected, he might—under certain circumstances—consider voting with the GOP to organize the Senate if Eisenhower was elected.

His statement today suggested the possibility he might avoid the issue. That suggestion came when he said he plans to finish his term as governor, which ends Jan. 14, Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Lausche's absence from the first 11 days of the new Senate's session could mean the Democrats might go ahead and organize before Lausche becomes a member of it.

Democrats now are assured of at least 49 members in the Senate, including Lausche. Republicans have at least 46. If the GOP wins the undecided contest in Kentucky, it would have 47.

If 48 Democrats and 47 Republicans were to be present when the Senate convenes—with Lausche absent—the Democrats would be in unquestioned control.

Lausche repeatedly has said he would vote on Senate organization in the way he thought best after determining the balance of strength and who was elected President.

He recalled difficulties with Republican-controlled Ohio Legislatures and asserted Eisenhower should not bear a similar burden if GOP organization of the U. S. Senate would prevent it.

Senate Lineup Now Confused, Complicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats have won numerical control of the next Senate by at least one vote but circumstances in four races could throw organization of the chamber either way.

That involves such matters as committee chairmanships which have a heavy bearing on the fate of legislation. The unsettled questions are in Kentucky, Ohio, New York and Texas.

With 49 votes required for a majority, the count by party labels is 49 Democrats elected against 46 Republicans, with the Republican leading in the one undecided contest.

That undecided race is in Kentucky where the GOP's Thurston B. Morton led Sen. Earle C. Clements in today's early count from the balloting Tuesday.

If the trend were maintained, the division would be 49-47. That would bring the question down to the stand of Ohio's Gov. Frank J. Lausche. A Democrat, he ousted Republican Sen. George H. Bender.

BUT LASUCHE has said that under certain circumstances he might vote with the Republicans on organization of the Senate. The suggestion was that he would go with the GOP if President Eisenhower were re-elected (something that has happened) and if the Senate division were close—which it is.

A Lausche flip-flop on the organization issue could create a 48-48 tie which Vice President Nixon could break in the Republicans' favor.

But today Lausche put out a hint he might avoid the whole issue by letting the Democrats organize the Senate without him.

If all the other senators were present that would let the Democrats take over by a vote of 48 to 46 or 47.

That is where the Texas and New York circumstances come in. New York's Republican Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits has won a Senate seat, but he might not be on hand the first day, which would cut down the GOP tally.

Javits has said he plans to stay on in the state job until Jan. 9, when the GOP-controlled Legislature convenes and could name a Republican successor.

Texas' Democratic Sen. Price Daniel has been elected governor of his state but he is a senator until he resigns. He has resigned effective Jan. 15.

Daniel has asked for an early special election but none has been called so far. There are half a dozen Democratic hopefuls and in that situation the Republicans hope to win the seat through a split Democratic vote. Or there could be an appointment, which presumably would go Democratic.

Salesman Run Down By His Own Auto

OMAHA (AP)—William Gundy, 47, a house to house salesman, was crossing a street when he looked up and saw a car bearing down on him.

He couldn't jump clear and the car knocked him down, went on a 100 feet and hit a power pole.

Said Gundy to police: "I lay there wondering who that fool driver was. Then it dawned on me—it was my car!"

Gundy, who was badly bruised, had parked his car on a hill. The brakes slipped.

Report Delayed On Local Option

Official Ruling On Walnut Twp. Question Is Expected Shortly

Pickaway County Board of Elections has withheld, for a time, official announcement on the outcome of a local option vote taken in Walnut Township. The announcement is expected shortly.

The wet-or-dry vote was one of more than a dozen local issues included in Tuesday's balloting. There were no county-wide questions.

Outstanding were two additional operating levies proposed for Circleville. One of them, for city government operations, failed by a narrow margin.

A spokesman for the elections board said further study of the local option petition will apparently be necessary before an official report can be made on outcome of the Walnut Township issue. Other results, on proposed levies, were announced as follows:

CIRCLEVILLE (for current city expenses): yes, 2,242; no, 1,599. This levy did not draw the required 60 percent and consequently failed to pass. The margin was only 63 votes short.

Circleville (school): yes, 2,661; no, 1,367.

Darby Township (current expenses and improvement): yes, 303; no, 118.

Darby (school): yes, 313; no, 107.

Walnut Township (current operating expenses and improvement): yes, 271; no, 218 (issue not carried).

Perry (school): yes, 131; no, 108.

Pickaway (school): yes, 268; no, 128.

Ashville (school): yes, 505; no, 187.

Jackson (school): yes, 189; no, 80.

Monroe (school): yes, 267; no, 117.

Madison (school): yes, 152; no, 72.

Muhlenberg (school): yes, 162; no, 39.

Commercial Point (current village expenses): yes, 81; no, 28.

Scioto (school): yes, 479; no, 168.

Western States Getting Winter

CHICAGO (AP)—It was cold today in broad areas of the western two-thirds of the country, ending a long spell of mild weather in many places.

First snow of the season fell in sections of the north central states but amounts were generally light. The snow belt spread from the northern Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures dipped to near zero in parts of Wyoming, with Laramie reporting 5 above.

Fairly mild weather continued in most of New England and the Mid-Atlantic states.

Missile Launching Stations Readied

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The builder of the Air Force's Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile said today locations in southern California and Florida were being made ready for initial launching tests.

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. said a facility, where the missile's rocket engines will be given short trials, is expected to go into operation in the immediate future.

The engines and other units will be given further tests at Edwards Air Force Base in the Mojave Desert before the initial launching from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.

Truce Appears To Be Hanging Only By Thread

British, French, Israel Oppose Idea; U. S. Eyes Its Own Defense Setup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The United States was reported urging all possible speed today in replacing British, French and Israeli forces in Egypt with peace-keeping troops under the flag of the United Nations.

The Suez Canal cease-fire appears to be hanging by a thread as the warring nations stand fast on opposing conditions for ending the strife.

The United Nations pressed efforts to set up an international force to police the cease-fire and withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egypt.

Britain and France flatly refused to pull out of the Suez Canal zone until the U. N. police force took over the area. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion said his government would not agree to any foreign force being stationed in Israel or on any territory it had occupied. Egypt demanded immediate withdrawal of the British, French and Israeli troops, a demand endorsed by the U. N.

DESPITE THE conflicting demands of the combatants, the U. N. General Assembly authorized the command of the new force, headed by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to "proceed forthwith with the full organization." Twelve nations already had offered troops, and some U. N. delegates predicted the first units would arrive in the Suez in two or three days.

Unless the switch can be made and the situation brought under control within a few days, official Washington believes there is grave danger of Soviet intervention with "volunteers" on the side of Egypt. This could prolong and spread the conflict, and increase the chances for a third world war.

President Eisenhower and his advisers don't believe the Soviet Union wants the kind of clash which would involve that country and the United States in a global H-bomb war.

But they see grave danger that limited fighting in the Middle East might set in motion forces that could go beyond the control of any government.

Russia, which abstained along with all the rest of the Soviet bloc, from the U. N. vote to go ahead with the police force, has offered to help throw the British, French and Israelis out of Egypt.

There was no fresh indication today as to what Soviet and Red Chinese forces might do. But fears of Russian intervention were heightened by reports that the Egyptians now were feverishly repairing their bomb-battered airfields. Defense Minister Antony Head informed the House of Commons that Britain was aware of this development. He said:

"OUR REPORTS are that very active work is now taking place at considerable speed to repair the airfields."

The British and French claimed the almost complete destruction of the Egyptian air force in aerial strikes that preceded the troop landings in Suez.

"SHOPLIFTER STEALING BATH-TUB"

According to statistics, there are more Television sets in this country than there are bath-tubs. Now that seems logical when you figure that most people would rather watch Sid Caesar on Saturday night than get soap in their eyes, but my colleague, Dr. Kitzenger, doesn't agree. He claims he'll alleviate this situation with his new invention, a combination bath-tub and TV set. Right now it has a few kinks in it like, for instance, when you pull out the stopper the picture goes down the drain but Dr. Kitzenger says a little thing like that doesn't discourage him. I wish I knew what would.

Money Taken From Tavern On Route 62

Thieves who entered a tavern on Route 62 near Harrisburg Tuesday night got away with loot estimated at $162 and caused damage amounting to about $195.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window on a rear door. The burglars removed four cigarette lighters and change from a cash register, a pin ball machine, a juke box and a cigarette machine.

Most of the damage resulted when the thieves forced the coin machines open. Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey investigated. He was assisted by the Bureau of Criminal Investigation from London.

Local Woman Hurt In 2 Car Collision North Of Ashville

Mary M. Montgomery, 41, Circleville, suffered lacerations of the head and multiple contusions and abrasions of the body in a two-car collision one mile north of Ashville on the Circleville-Lockbourne Rd. yesterday at 5 p. m.

The injured woman was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment. The driver of the other vehicle, Ove A. Johnson, 62, Circleville Route 4, was uninjured.

According to the sheriff's department, Johnson's car was struck from the rear by the Montgomery vehicle. The injured woman was cited by Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey for failing to have assured clear distance.

Newest Buick Yet

You know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new?

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true — gospel true.

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense. We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up—engines that deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—so instant in the starting range—so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive"—that your need for "Low" is practically eliminated.

So come take in these low-silhouette, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all — and how catching this excitement can be.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Our little girl Joan, age 21 months, has a next-door playmate—I'll call her Daisy—who is nearly 3; and they fight constantly.

Daisy does so much teasing, on the mean side, that my little Joan does nothing but cry off and on, all day. Daisy pinches, twists her arm, knocks her down, bites, and takes away her toys, one after the other. The worst of it is that Daisy loves Joan, I think, and misses her when she isn't home; and she has only Joan to play with.

Now my husband wants me to either keep Joan alone, or teach her to fight back, using Daisy's tactics. I think children need other children, to learn give-and-take; but not to be bullied. And I hate to teach my child Daisy's tricks, because one day I might have to spank her for such things with another child.

Bear in mind, when advising, that Daisy lives next door and is over at my house at 7:30 a. m., and doesn't go home until her mother comes for her. It would be almost impossible to keep her away (unless we move), and what I most want to know is: How to handle her?

Please don't say "Be sure each child has the same," for they do. Each has a bike, a broom, a shovel, etc., and it seems Daisy only likes what Joan has, until she gets it in her hands.

Daisy has an older brother, and the family has always teased her; also the parental relationship is very shaky. Daisy is very possessive, determined and hard to cope with (says her mother). I think the mother is very confused about what to do and when, with Daisy.

G. R.
DEAR G. R.: Wherever children are together, there should be an adult in the picture, within sight and sound of what's going on, and within quick reach too — to curb savage outbreaks and teach rules of play.

And by an adult, I don't mean simply a grown-up person, who is 23 years old, or older. Rather I mean a person who is sufficiently mature and responsible to firmly perform the duties of leadership in human relations, when need arises. One who isn't afraid (who won't hesitate) to speak and act with compelling authority, on the instant, to spot ugly injustice, control the aggressor and enforce fair give-and-take, as the rule of the house, when visiting children (or one's own) get out of hand, or into trouble.

Your pathetic appeal for advice indicates that you've lagged far behind this commonsense standard in dealing with Daisy. It seems you hover anxiously on the sidelines, doing nothing to protect Joan or discipline Daisy—as a proper supervisor should—while the visiting child pinches, bites, arm-twists and knocks down your child, and snatches her toys one by one, just to be bossy.

How do you explain your colossal neglect of duty in the circumstances? Are you being paid by Daisy's parents to keep her during the day, while her mother works away from home? Is that why she is with you so much? And why don't you crack down? Are you afraid of losing the income, or afraid that Daisy might squawk and cause neighbor trouble, if you were to make her toe the mark in your household?

In this case, Joan needs adult protection from Daisy's gouging; and Daisy needs close supervision when playing with Joan at your house. Interfere at once when Daisy offends; and be clear and consistent in correcting her—until

Liberace Weeps At Disappointment

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Liberace has returned from a five-week overseas tour a bit disappointed that the Middle East crisis prevented him from appearing before the Queen of England.

Prisoner Sorry He Cannot Help

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A reporter for the Norman Transcript, trying to find an inter-city bus that reportedly was missing telephoned the sheriff's office at Purcell, Okla.

"I wouldn't know anything about it," the voice that answered the phone declared. "I'm just a prisoner in the jail — we answer the phone for the sheriff at night."

The bus was located later, she knows what you expect, and insist upon.

Wildcat Strike Hits Coldwater Factory

CELINA, Ohio (AP)—A "wildcat" strike, idling some 1,000 employees of the New Idea Division of the Avco Manufacturing Co., entered its second day Wednesday at the company plant in Coldwater, about 10 miles southeast of here.

Company officials termed the walkout a violation of the "no-strike" clause in its contract with United Steelworkers of America. Avco said it has not received any demands from the strikers nor has it heard of any complaints from them.

Union officials called the strike

"unauthorized" and said they have appealed to the union's international headquarters for advice.

A spokesman for the strikers said workers walked out of the Coldwater plant at 3 p. m. Tuesday in protest over a production rate time study initiated by the company.

IT'S the LAW

This is another in a series of articles prepared by the Pickaway County Bar Association and printed by The Herald as a public service. The articles are not intended to answer the legal problems of any specific individual. And names, whenever used, are fictitious. Purpose of the series is merely to outline the law that applies, with variations, in common types of litigation.

Seller Remains Liable If Mortgage Is Retained

Henry Jones decided to sell his home for $15,000 and when a buyer was found, the question arose as to how the buyer should finance the purchase.

Henry had a mortgage on his house, with a balance of $10,000, and the buyer suggested that Henry permit him to take over the mortgage payments, paying Henry the difference of $5,000 in cash. This, argued the buyer, would save him the trouble and expense of getting a new loan himself, and so Henry agreed.

Several years after the deal was closed, Henry received a letter from his bank, advising that the payments on the mortgage were far in arrears and that he would have to pay or a lawsuit would be filed. Henry was surprised to learn that he was still liable on the original obligation, and that if the property could not be sold at foreclosure to bring enough money to pay the mortgage balance and the costs, he would have to pay the difference.

Of course, Henry might have sued his buyer for his loss, but the chances would be that the buyer is insolvent and uncollectible, and Henry could not collect a judgment against him.

WHEN A mortgage is assumed by a purchaser of real estate, the financial institution still holds the original note which was signed by the seller. If Henry had contacted his bank and obtained a release of liability, Henry would, of course, have been cleared of all further responsibility on the obligation.

Henry's bank, however, would have no reason to release Henry and might be reluctant to do so unless the bank's investigation disclosed that the buyer was at least as credit-worthy as Henry. The bank may also have had additional problems concerning releasing Henry from the obligation if the loan was of the FHA or GI type.

The danger of permitting an assumption of your mortgage loan is, therefore, considerable, especially in view of the fact that real estate markets may fall after a period of years so that the real estate itself may not be of sufficient value to pay the mortgage note in the event of a default by the buyer.

Book Too Naughty For Her Minister

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Col. Barney Oldfield of the Air Defense Command was autographing copies of his book, "Never a Shot in Anger," in a bookshop. A woman asked him if it would be a suitable present for her minister.

"Well, it's sort of a naughty book in spots," Oldfield said. "All right, recommend something else for my preacher," the woman said. "I'll take this myself."

Angered Drinkers Blamed For Fire

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—William Beudikof is blaming the $100,000 fire which destroyed his grand view house in the Mt. Hamilton Range on the election.

Beudikof told sheriff's deputies he believed angered seekers for a drink started the fire.

Required to close his tavern during polling hours, Beudikof decided against reopening Tuesday night. He said he heard a car drive up just before the fire was discovered at 2 a.m.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TO MOST PERSONS it must seem like more than 15 years ago that the stage was being set for U. S. entrance into World War II. Fifteen years ago this country was still officially at peace, but aid had been extended to the Allies, and Washington was engaged in a diplomatic hassle with the Japanese which was to continue until the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Then, of course, the fat was in the fire, and the long struggle to defeat Japan and Germany began. The victory was not easily won, although in retrospect it may appear that there could have been no other outcome. It is not difficult for a people never defeated in a major war to assume the Pollyannish attitude that it could never happen. Likewise, in taking a backward glance at wars won, the cost of the struggle is frequently overlooked.

The fifteen years that have passed since this country's involvement in World War II have not been years of peace, but the country has made economic progress. Despite an inflated dollar, the standard of living is considerably higher than it was 15 years ago. Huge outlays for defense have been necessary because of continuous danger of aggression, but this spending seems to have aided instead of hurt the economy.

If the decade that has passed since the last war ended has not followed the pattern outlined by either extreme optimists or dour pessimists, this is understandable. No one can accurately predict events 10 years in advance in normal times, and no one would term the years of the mid-century normal.

What will the next decade bring? Some seers are so brash as to make all sorts of predictions, but many an American would be content if he could foresee events of the next 10 weeks.

FASTER

IN THE TALL tales of American folklore the fleet-footed hero is often said to be able to fire a bullet and run ahead to catch it before it reaches the mark. Listeners are thus assured that the hero was very speedy and the tale-teller a satisfactory liar.

One is not really surprised to learn that once again fact has caught up with the most outrageous fiction. When Jet pilot Tom Attridge shot himself down by the simple expedient of running into his own bullets, the U. S. Navy called the accident a million-to-one shot.

But all that means is that one-plane dog fights aren't likely to happen by accident. The point which the pilot made seems more significant: It could be duplicated any time. "We're going awfully fast nowadays," he said.

Tom Attridge streaking across his own line of fire strikes us as a kind of parable of the times. We are going awfully fast, developing physical capacities so rapidly that the old-fashioned brain has no time to adjust to their implications. How can one plan for the future if the future is upon us before the plan is complete?

A manufacturer introducing his latest product boasts, "1960 is here!" That's just what we're afraid of. We're not ready for 1960. We're not sure we've drawn even with 1956 yet. Tom Attridge pretty well summed things up for most of us. "I didn't really know what hit me," he said. "All I knew was that I ran into something."

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

It is a cruel fate that has befallen the people of Hungary. And what they are suffering from Soviet imperialism, the Poles, the Rumanians, the East Germans, the Bulgarians are equally suffering. For what Soviet Russia decided, apparently at the last moment, was upon a demonstration to show all liberty-loving people what would happen to them if they tried to free themselves from Soviet enslavement. The Kremlin is still able to gouge out the eyes of its satellites.

The Hungarians are being crushed into the soil under the deadly tanks that roll over human beings. They are being poisoned by phosphorous bombs shot at them by the Slavic-Tatar monsters that build empires while they denounce imperialism, that turn civilized nations into colonies while they shriek "Anti-Colonialism!"

Shall we sing a requiem for Hungary? Shall we place the crown of St. Stephen upon the skull of a Slavic slave? Shall we, who were so excited about justice in the Middle East, turn our backs to the Hungarian shambles lest we see more than we like to see, more than we want to see? Peace is dear to the hearts of all men except when the price of peace is moral debasement. It is just like love which is the most poetic and beautiful expression of human nature but which can be the most ugly horror when it associates itself with prostitution or perversion.

Hungary was the second of the satellite states to seek its freedom from the Kremlin. The first was Yugoslavia. But Tito's problem was comparatively simple. There were no Russian troops in Yugoslavia and Tito had an effective army which had been built during the war. Tito was swiftly aided by the Allies, such aid costing the United States a billion dollars which Tito gladly accepted provided no strings were attached to the gift. And no strings have been attached even after Tito rejoined the confraternity in the Kremlin.

Hungary was not as fortunate as Yugoslavia. Hungary had to fight for its freedom. The Hungarian people were forced to engage in streetfighting against the Russian hordes. Young students had to lay down their lives for the liberty of their parents. They defeated the Russians.

They defeated the Hungarians who were traitors to their own country. The Hungarians and Russians were actually negotiating for the withdrawal of Soviet troops and for peace terms, when like a snarling beast that knows neither honor nor courage, the Russians surrounded Budapest with a thousand tanks, arrested the very men with whom they were negotiating, shot down the people and restored a country to slavery.

It was—it is—genocide. And what about the United Nations which is against genocide, against foreign troops seizing a country, against one nation marching upon another, against imperialism and colonialism? What about the United Nations? It will have to save itself in Hungary rather than in the Middle East. Great Britain and France will leave Egypt but Soviet Russia will not leave Hungary.

The West has grown soft and lives in fear of great deeds. The Russians are hard and risk greatly.

Wife may go through husband's pockets at pleasure, a judge rules. This seems to mean that a perpetual search warrant accompanies the marriage license.

Perhaps experts who say they've halted inflation will now tackle the problem of halting prices going up.

Scientists say 98 per cent of the human body is renewed every year. The family car does almost as well as that.

There is enjoyment in saving money, says an economist. Taxpayers would like to try it some time.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

From the Dodd, Mead & Co. novel. Copyright © 1945 by William and Audrey Kelley Roos. © 1956 by Kelley Roos. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER 21
THE NEXT morning Steve and I left our apartment together. He was on his way to the office for two reasons. A: the relatively unimportant one of giving his boss the impression that he was still working for his newspaper; B: to dig into the back number files to see if he could learn anything about the apparently accidental death of a man named Walter in the month of August.

I was on my way to the Crescent School of Dancing for a number of reasons. Perhaps Leone Webb, having lived with Anita, might know of a man called Stubby. And there were some questions which Steve had thought up for me to ask Jack Walton and Dottie Harris.

I reached the fourteenth floor and saw that Leone was busy at her reception desk with some people, but she had time to spot me. She gave me a message. Mr. Bell wanted to see me now, at once, before my first lesson. I thanked Leone, but I didn't mean it. The message had re-set my nerves to jumping.

I opened the door of my employer's office just an inch. The sight of him alone, without the company of any policemen, soothed me . . . but not completely. My position on Mr. Bell's faculty was too delicate a hypocrisy to stand any interest in me from him. He smiled at me and, as royalty does, bade me sit.

I sat.
"Well, Hester?"
I smiled back at him, hoping to build up some good labor-capital relations. Our grins seemed to make the very walls of the elegant office shiver in delight.

"Well, Hester! This is your second day with us!"
"Yes, Mr. Bell. This is my second day!"

"And how are things going? Was yesterday difficult for you?"
"Difficult?" Mr. Bell, I said fervently, "I shall always consider yesterday one of the most thrilling days of my life."

I didn't add that I hoped I would never have another like it. I just sat nodding and beaming at my master.

"Ah, Mr. Bell said. He actually said, 'Ah.'"
"Yes," I said. "Oh, yes!"

"Then you find teaching gratifying, do you?"
"Gratifying?" Mr. Bell, I said thrillingly. To take those poor, stumbling, awkward men and help them achieve grace, poise and social well-being through dancing is thrilling. Thrilling!"

"I take it then, Hester, that you will be with us for a good long while."

I turned pale inside. What a glib, monstrous liar I, Connie Barton, was becoming. If this was habit-forming, I would hardly be a fit mother for the small group of children Steve and I were planning. But then I re-such a point of keeping the relationships here in my school completely business-like. You can imagine how my conscience tortured me as I found myself attracted by, then drawn inevitably toward Miss Webb."

"You may call her Leone."

"Then to my horror, Leone reciprocated my affection and . . ."

"Put it bluntly, Mr. Bell. You developed a terrific yen for each other. You fought against it. You lost. I don't blame either of you. So you're going to be married. When?"

"Well, I thought we should wait a year. To make certain, you know." He was smiling now, happy in his love. "We were planning to be married on New Year's Eve."

"That's a good way to begin a year."

"Yes, it pleases me." He chuckled in the throes of a fond remembrance. "You see, it was on New Year's Eve that I proposed to Leone. Actually, it was quite unromantic. I proposed by telephone."

"That could be unsatisfactory."

"Yes, it was impetuous of me to spoil it like that. We had gone to a little restaurant where I was sure we wouldn't be seen . . . and Leone was so irresistible . . . well, after I had taken her home, I went home and actually paced the floor. Then I did it. I telephoned her a little after midnight and proposed."

"And she accepted. Right then and there."

"Yes, Mr. Bell sighed. "Yes." "Congratulations. She's a wonderful girl."

"Yes . . . oh, yes."

"The phone rang; Mr. Bell answered it."

"Hello . . . oh, hello, my darling . . ." He jumped, startled, shocked at himself. He cleared the romance from his voice. He said briskly, "Yes, Miss Webb? Oh . . . send them right in. Thank you."

He hung up, spoke to me.

"The detectives want to see me, Hester. If you don't mind."

"Not at all!" I said quickly. I got to the door, almost through it.

"Hester!"

"Yes, Mr. Bell?"

"I'm sure I can count on you to be discreet . . ."

"Of course!" I had to get out of here fast. "Absolutely!"

"Perhaps if you feel your salary is inadequate . . ."

"Oh, no, sir! Thank you, sir!"

I managed to get behind the door of an empty studio just in time. Through the peep-hole I saw Hankins and Bolling march past and disappear into Mr. Bell's office. I slid out of my hiding place and headed for the reception room. I could probably count on a few uninterrupted moments with Miss Leone Webb.

Ernie Kovacs had a very near-sighted singer on his TV program, and took her across the street for a bite when the show was over. In the entrance they brushed against a stalwart gent who greeted her affectionately. Without her glasses she didn't have the faintest idea who he was, so decided to play it safe. She gave him a big fat kiss and pouted, "Why don't you ever call me any more?" When he had left, she asked Ernie, "Who on earth was that?" He answered, "That was your first husband—whom you have cut dead for the past ten years."

Kovacs himself had trouble identifying a man who evidently knew him well, and to cover his embarrassment asked, "Haven't I seen you in Sardi's recently?" "That's very likely," was the answer. "I've been headwaiter there since 1945."

There are two things about a wife's new evening gown that intrigues her husband, opines Adrian Anderson: how much he will have to put into it—and how much she will leave out.

Nothing Safe From Change

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (P)—Monologue of a middle-aged man in the street:

Well, the election is over, and if these were normal times the country would be safe for another four years. But today nothing really seems safe from change for even the next four minutes.

The world used to operate on a sensible basis. It would have a big depression every 10 years, and a big war every 20 or 25 years. This gave people time in-between to make love or look up at the stars for comfort.

A man don't mind so much getting an ulcer from earning a living, paying off his mortgage, and keeping his kids in school and out of jail. It's the extra ulcer he gets that bothers him, the one caused by his monotonous mental diet, a diet of crises. You get a warmed-over old crisis for breakfast, a half-baked later crisis for lunch, and a brand new completely raw crisis for dinner. The mind simply can't stomach them all.

If it ain't a crisis over maybe the hydrogen bomb will fall, it's a crisis over maybe the cost of living will go up. Even the weather is a crisis. The climate is getting warmer and in another 10,000 years (just when I finally finish paying off my house) the country may be one vast desert, and what'll that do to property values?

Then there's always the crisis over peace. World peace seems to be pretty much like prosperity in America—it isn't a fixed thing, but is based on the installment plan.

Russia moves tanks into Hungary to preserve freedom and soon the only free Hungarians in the country are those too dead to realize the wonder of it. Then Russia threatens to put the muscle on Britain, France, and Israel in order to preserve peace in Egypt. But Britain, France and Israel don't see the logic of that at all. Why are they already busy fighting for in Egypt? Why, to preserve the peace, of course.

The Egyptians, too, are fighting to preserve peace with an army developed probably for just that purpose. What puzzles me is whether peace can stand much more preserving without winding up embalméd.

Somehow I can't quite get it. How is it possible to avoid war by fighting and preserve the peace by breaking it?

Pomona Grange 26 Holds Group's Regular Session

95 Members Meet; Master Commended

Pomona Grange No. 26 met in regular session in the Scioto township school with 95 members present.

Master Hoyt Timmons presided at the morning session. Following the ritualistic opening, the group sang, "Onward Christian Soldiers." The worthy Master appointed Mr. Harold Bumgarner, Mrs. James Gregory and Mrs. Herman Berger to write a resolution of respect in memory of the late David O. Dowler.

Mr. A. J. Dunkle, legislative agent of Pomona Grange, urged all members to use the privilege of voting on election day. Mrs. John P. Dowler, county juvenile deputy, in her annual report, complimented Mr. Timmons on his work as Master. She urged all Grange leaders to attend the district conferences.

Mrs. Dowler announced that Mrs. Clyde Michel of Star Grange won first place in the state contest on apple upside cake. Mrs. A. J. Dunkle, Nebraska Grange, and Mrs. Clarence Maxson of Salt Creek Valley Grange, were named on the County Home Economics Committee to assist Mrs. Dowler.

Mrs. Herman Berger reported on the livestock sale dinner. Reports were also heard from each of the Subordinate Granges. Progress was shown in each of the reports. Mr. Timmons urged that more support be given to our juvenile members in their work. He also urged that members support the blood bank.

Following the noon luncheon, the session resumed. The Pickaway County Youth Installation Team installed the following officers:

Master—Harold Furniss, Star Grange
Overseer—Galen Mowery, Mt. Pleasant Grange
Lecturer—Mrs. Judson Beougher, Salt Creek Valley Grange
Steward—Harold Bumgarner, Scioto Valley

Assistant Steward—Thomas A. Carter, Scioto Valley Grange
Chaplain—Mrs. Anna Hedges, Nebraska Grange
Secretary—C. E. Dick, Star Grange
Treasurer—Russell Anderson, Salt Creek Valley Grange

Gatekeeper—Dorsey Bumgarner, Mt. Pleasant Grange
Pomona—Mrs. Hoyt Timmons, Logan Elm Grange
Ceres—Miss Barbara McKenzie, Logan Elm Grange
Flora—Mrs. Paul Beers, Scioto Grange

Lady Assistant Steward—Mrs. James Gregory, Nebraska Grange
Planist—Miss Weta Mae Leist, Washington Grange
Executive Committee Member for 3 years—C. M. Reid, Star Grange

Mr. Furniss, newly installed Master announced the appointment of Don Delong of Salt Creek Valley Grange as county youth chairman. Mr. Delong gave a report of various youth activities. He reported that the youth team had installed officers of four Granges in this county; the officers of Fayette County at Washington, C. H., Blendon Grange at Westerville and will in the near future install officers of Ross County at Clarksburg.

He reported that the drill team had performed at the Ohio State Grange Convention. Mr. Delong said the youth planned to enter the drill and ritualistic contests this year. He spoke briefly on the David Dowler Memorial Fund and urged everyone to support the fund.

The Grange approved a contribution of $50 to the Veteran's Hospital at Chillicothe. A rising vote of thanks was given to Scioto Grange for the day's hospitality. An invitation was accepted to meet

Morris EUB Aid Group Plans For Thanksgiving

Plans for the Thanksgiving project were completed when the Morris Evangelical United Brethren Aid met at the home of Miss Minnie Kern and Mrs. Carl Anderson of Salt Creek Township.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Anderson, president, in charge. The song "Let the Lower Lights be Burning" was sung, followed by a prayer by Mrs. M. R. White. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Russell England, who took for her text Eph. 5-1:21. The secretary's report was given and roll call was answered by 14 members.

Mrs. Roy England was appointed as chairman of the project for Thanksgiving. She will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Dunkle and Mrs. Albert Musselman.

A dedication of the new kitchen will be held at the church November 15 at 8 p. m. A kitchen shower will be held at that time. Mrs. Millard England and Mrs. Russell England were named to serve as the refreshment committee for the dedication.

The Morris Ladies Aid accepted an invitation to meet with the Dresbach Ladies Aid November 15 at 2 p. m.

A report was given that 56 cards and 37 calls had been made during the past month.

The Rev. Fred Ketter closed the business session with a prayer.

The program consisted of a series of Thanksgiving readings presented by Mrs. Wilbur Pontius.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Virgil Hayslip of Circleville Route 1 at 2 p. m., at which time a fifty cent gift exchange will be held.

Guests present for the meeting were: Mrs. White, Mrs. Daisy Bolender, Mrs. Jennie Boden, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. James Pierce, Mrs. Paul Dawson, Mrs. Joseph Anderson and Miss Helen Dunkle.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pork will be popular with the price-conscious housewife again this week.

Food stores across the country have cut pork prices, sometimes as much as 10 and 20 cents, to reflect the recent drop on the wholesale market. Here and there prices are a little higher.

Eggs are also generally cheaper and in many places beef is down. Shoppers can look forward to further easing of beef prices too, since wholesale butcher prices for this meat showed another moderate decline.

Wholesale prices for pork moved up narrowly this week but are still around their lowest levels in many months. This is the season when a heavy run of hogs comes to market and housewives can expect attractive pork prices for the next several weeks at least.

Among vegetables, late fall crops still dominate the list of outstanding buys. These include cabbage, cauliflower and beets.

Potatoes are a little higher now, but are still classed as a very good buy.

Beans, carrots, cucumbers and sweet potatoes are in the category of good buys.

Stage Pond's Council Names New Officers

Highlight of the latest meeting of the Stage Pond Council was the election of officers. Mr. and Mrs. Gail Hanover of Ashville were hosts for the meeting.

Officers elected were as follows: chairman, Mr. Ward Robinson; vice-chairman, A. J. Dunkel; secretary, Mrs. Ward Robinson; discussion leader, Mrs. Gail Hanover; legislative representative, Judd Dresbach.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments being served by the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Hanover. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dunkel of Circleville Township.

A fish platter looks pretty when it's garnished with slices or wedges of lemon dipped in minced chives or parsley.

An old-fashioned technique that's still good to use: Soak cauliflower or broccoli in salted water for 15 minutes or so before cooking to get rid of any small insects.

Sunday School Class Meets

The Youth Sunday School class of the Mt. Pleasant Church held its regular meeting in the social rooms of the church.

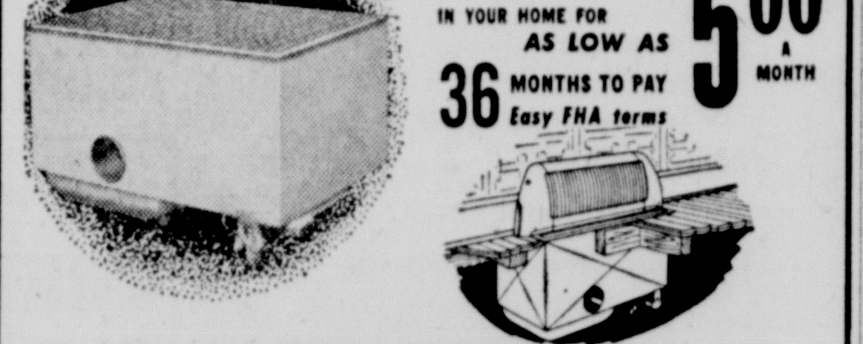

The meeting opened with the president, Phyllis Devey, presiding. Devotions were in charge of Judy Thompson.

Following the business meeting, a party was held, with games furnished by Mrs. Roy Rittinger.

Refreshments in keeping with the season were served.

DUV To Help Vets Hospital

Mrs. David Blue was initiated when the members of the Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War held their meeting in the Post Room of the Memorial Hall.

Mrs. James Trimmer, president, was in charge of the business session. Mrs. Richard Moon was admitted to the organization by transfer from the Chillicothe Tent. Members voted to give a substantial sum to the Veterans Memorial Hospital fund in Chillicothe.

Mrs. E. L. Tolbert, a past department president of Ohio and now serving as Chaplain of the local Tent, gave an original and inspiring article on "Patriotism".

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Webb, Mrs. C. O. Kerns and Mrs. W. E. Pickens, assisted by Mrs. Cora Coffland. The refreshment table was decorated with a bowl of fall chrysanthemums presented by Mrs. D. M. Wignel, and flanked by tall red tapers, suggestive of Thanksgiving.

The next meeting is scheduled for December 4, and plans will be made at that time for the annual Daughter's Day dinner.

Bridal Shower Held In Honor Charles Browns

Mrs. Harl Stevenson, Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Gale Tigner were hostesses at a bridal shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown. Mrs. Brown is the former Miss Carol Davis. The affair was held in the home of Mrs. Stevenson at 447 Watt St.

Those present from Circleville in addition to the honored guests were:

Milk products supply strong and delicious materials for a health foundation. The wise shopper never forgets to stop at the dairy counter, as no other food item offers so much in food value and taste appeal at so low a cost.

Milk provides a large selection of cheese items—so lets put cottage cheese at the head of our shopping list and then concentrate on its worth.

Cottage cheese is one of the most popular cheeses, and its popularity continues to grow. Our specialists in Consumer Food Marketing tell us that production rose 304 million pounds from 1947 to 1954.

Ohio alone produced 37,573,000 pounds of cottage cheese curd in 1954. Only California and New York surpassed Ohio in production of this product.

Currently there is a plentiful supply of cottage cheese with an attractive price, and it is a wise choice, either from the milk man or the food store.

Cottage cheese is sometimes called Dutch cheese or "Schmierkase". It is soft, uncured cheese made from skim milk and has a characteristic delicate, fresh flavor.

Creamed cottage cheese, as the name suggests, has sweet, fresh dairy cream added to the dry cottage cheese.

Shoppers may choose between the small or large curd, depending upon the family's preference. The size of the curds vary because of the way the curd is cut.

Cheese should be stored as carefully as milk. Keep it in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator to prevent absorption of flavors from other foods.

If cottage cheese stays in the refrigerator too long, the edges get dry and crumbly or water from the curd may seep out into the container. A deep yellow color around the edge of the container indicates that the cheese is old.

Quite naturally, this cheese product of milk is an excellent source of protein. Its low calorie content (25 per ounce) and high protein value make it an excellent choice for weight watchers. It furnishes abundant amounts of calcium and vitamin A. There is no waste to cheese as it is all edible. It provides taste appeal, eco-product and offers a wide variety in meal and snack planning.

Have you tried mixing cottage cheese with olives, pimiento, or nomy, and nutritional value in the family's menus. It is a versatile chopped ham for stuffing celery hearts?

Have you used it as a spread on toast rounds or in sandwiches when mixed with chopped dates, prunes, or apricots—or fruit preserves? Does your health recipe include the sufficient amounts of milk and milk products?

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Once upon a time there was a town in Wales that nobody could find. The inhabitants of this town felt that it was a delightful place to live and deserving of recognition—but still it was so far from the beaten track that if you didn't live there, you simply couldn't find it.

The town nobody could find was having all sorts of financial and social difficulties. Money found its way out, but never in. And when one of the townspeople would invite friends or relatives for the weekend, no one would come for fear of getting lost in the countryside.

Then the town council changed the name of the town to "Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllantysiliogogoch" which, if Welshmen could speak English, they would call "The Church of St. Mary in a Hollow of White Hazel Near to a Rapid Whirlpool and to St. Tysilio's Church Near to a Red Cave."

With such specific instructions, people from near and far could find the town. And soon the town even had its own railroad. Perhaps such specific instructions incorporated in the name of a town amuse you.

THINK of your own experiences when you go to visit a friend who has just moved or is a new acquaintance. If you are like the rest of us and spend most of the daylight hours chasing dollars for your family, that first visit will probably be in the evening.

Your friend might give you some instructions something like these: "Come down Walnut street about a mile until you see a drug store. Turn left at the drug store and you will be on Peach street. Go about three blocks—you can't miss it—there is a Gobygo gasoline station on the corner. Turn right. We are the third house on the left."

Sure, this house is designed by a number and a street name, but have you ever tried to read those little signs in the dark? I always got the squints and several times came close to being run down in an intersection when I paused to scrutinize a particularly furtive sign.

On a visit to Tulsa recently, I visited some friends of mine who had just moved into a new house. I found the house at night and without a long stream of instructions—although I had as a guide only the street name and address.

In Tulsa they have green and white reflective street signs. As your headlights hit the sign, the street designation looms out at you. You can usually see the name of the sign a good 100 feet away and have plenty of time to signal before you turn.

The signs certainly made getting around at night much easier and I suggest them to the people of Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllantysiliogogoch.

Lobsters, which once were thought to do little ocean traveling, drift hundreds of miles as tiny spiderlike lobsterlings before settling down to the sea bottom.

Ex-Solon Enters Innocent Plea

HAMILTON (AP)—Martin A. Lingler Jr., 39, former state representative, pleaded innocent Wednesday at arraignment on two grand larceny indictments.

Lingler, defeated Tuesday in a bid for election as county commissioner, was indicted last month in the theft of a boat and trailer from the Hamilton Boat Club last Aug. 24. Police said he told them he agreed to let a "Howard Johnson" store a boat in a shed at the Lingler Coal Co., where the boat and trailer were found.

O'Neill Expects Big Population Boost

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Governor-elect C. William O'Neill predicts Ohio's population will jump from nine to 11 million people in the next four years.

In his first post-campaign speech here Wednesday night, the campaign-weary but jovial O'Neill said he believed Ohio will replace Illinois as the fourth largest state within the next four years.

He spoke at a dinner session of the Buckeye Eastern National Polled Hereford Show and Sale.

PRESENTING THE Surprise Package of '57!

THE NEW Pontiac is Completely New from Power to Personality!

Fresh from 100,000 miles of testing, the '57 Pontiac is on display tomorrow! Even a brief once-over of Pontiac's sleek new lines tells you that you're in at the start of a styling revolution. And that glistening sheath conceals a carload of engineering "firsts"—all polished to watch-work perfection in the toughest test ever given a new car.

This '57 Pontiac pounded the road through 100,000 miles of tests . . . through it all Pontiac engineers refined and perfected every feature of this great car.

They made Pontiac's big, new power plant even more efficient than its predecessor, the engine that set over fifty new world records and led all eights in miles per gallon! They perfected the new suspension system, new controls and new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic* to give you the smoothest riding, easiest handling—and safest—new car ever to hit the road!

See and drive this new '57 Pontiac. Sample in a single mile all that's been proved by 100,000 miles of testing.

*An extra-cost option.

AND THE FIRST CAR AT ANY PRICE WITH . . .

STAR FLIGHT BODY DESIGN—a Pontiac Exclusive—longer and lower than ever before—the year's most distinctive new automotive styling.

NEW INTERIOR STYLING—WITH THE "OFF-THE-SHOULDER" LOOK—a fashion "first" for '57—perfectly color-matched with the exterior.

NEW STRATO-STREAK V-8—270 h.p. in Star Chief and Super Chief, 252 h.p. in the Chieftain—with smoother Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic.

CLOUD-SOFT, LEVEL-LINE RIDE—the ride sensation of the year—a new suspension system based on a big 124- or 122-inch wheelbase.

Living It Up Painlessly Is Growing Trend

Americans Utilize Payment Plans To Get What They Want

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Living it up painlessly is the goal today of an increasing number of Americans. First Uncle Sam gave a helping hand. Now it's the banks, although mostly with reluctance.

For some time living it up has been an American habit—meaning, living up the current and expected income by budgeting it carefully and pre-mortgaging it on the installment plan. For most this means determining over just how many different weekly or monthly payments the paycheck will stretch. For the cautious it also means leaving a few dollars leeway for emergencies.

Painless dentistry has entered this way of life increasing of late. This consists in essence of making the payments as nearly unnoticed as possible — by having them extracted either from the paycheck itself or by prearranged bank payments without troubling the debtor.

Uncle Sam gave the movement its first big boost when he had employers deduct income tax and social security payments from paychecks. As one result, many persons know only vaguely what percentage of their income goes for taxes.

Many other deductions can be made. You can arrange similarly for payment of union dues, contributions to pension programs and purchase of savings bonds or of stock in the company where you work.

You never get your hands on the total amount you're told your employer is paying you—or, to put it in the terms in which management sees it, on the amount it costs the company to have you around.

Accustomed to this, many Americans began budgeting to see just how many payments the remaining income would cover. Their standard of living is now determined not so much by what the wage earner makes but by how much he dares to owe.

This policy is popular because for many families it has worked well. It is popular with manufacturers because it is the way that the most goods with high price tags can be sold. And this is a way of life that is widely credited with bringing American industrialism to its present high state of prosperity.

The one painful thing has been the relentless arrival of the periodic payment time. The remedy now catching on is to arrange with the company you owe and with your bank for regular and

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON — What the elections proved seems simple enough, although men who make a living analyzing voting habits will come up with plenty of psychological jargon and seeming profundities.

The voters liked President Eisenhower far more than they did Adlai Stevenson, and more than they liked the Republican party. Otherwise they couldn't see much difference between Democrats and Republicans.

The evidence is plain enough: Eisenhower won overwhelmingly, but his Republicans were beaten by the Democrats for control of Congress. The Democrats won by only the tiniest margin, capturing just enough of the 531 seats to take charge.

Nevertheless, the voters have been showing a preference for the Democrats as a party. They elected a Republican Congress with Eisenhower in 1952 but in 1954 and again this year gave the Democrats control.

The Democrats and Republicans — as parties — are almost identical. Both stand for moderate extensions of the New Deal and Fair Deal. Beyond that they don't go.

The Republicans, after years of criticizing many of the social measures of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, took them over lock, stock and barrel although they don't like to acknowledge it.

Republican adoption of the Roosevelt-Truman programs means they have caught up with the clock. The New and Fair Deal reforms have become part of the basic fabric of American life.

For their part, the Democrats have moved neither left nor right, as a party. They're right in the middle. The Republicans used to scream the Democrats were socializing the country, but the New and Fair Deal reforms were not radical. The proof is their acceptance by such middle-of-the-road Republicans as Eisenhower.

Neither Democrats nor Republicans now are calling for wide reforms, as the Democrats did in depression days. The reason for that is simple enough too: the country is prosperous and is not expecting or demanding startling changes.

Because Democrats and Republicans are both moderate as parties. Both Democrats and Republicans have right and liberal wings, and both have large conservative center groups.

If anyone doubts the similarities between the two parties, all he has to do is read their campaign platforms and analyze the programs proposed by both Eisenhower and Stevenson during the campaign.

This similarity between the parties can be expected to continue until the country undergoes some deep economic change or until the world position deteriorates badly. Then new forces will form within the country, new needs arise.

Russia (Ohio) Shows It Likes Ike

RUSSIA, Ohio — Russia liked Ike — Russia, Ohio, that is.

This tiny town in Shelby County gave President Eisenhower 246 votes to 156 for Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in Tuesday's election. Russia normally is Democratic.

New Ohio Senate Lineup Determined By Tuesday Poll

64 Americans Arrive For Olympic Games

New Effort Is Made To Change Minds Of Withdrawn Nations

MELBOURNE (AP)—The first big planeload of the mighty Yank team arrived today as international Olympic officials sought to lead some of the withdrawn nations back into the Melbourne fold.

The group of 64 Americans headed by Kenneth Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, landed in bright sunshine at Essendon Airport.

Some sparkle had gone out of the preparations for the massive international sports spectacle opening Nov. 22 by the withdrawals of Holland, Spain, Red China and Iraq. Efforts were started today by Wilfred Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, and Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee, to lure some countries, especially Holland, back into the games.

Kent-Hughes, who appealed to the nations of the world to overcome international distrust and jealousies in the true spirit of the Olympics, set the wheels in motion by cabling the Dutch national Olympic committee to reconsider its decision.

Wilson, who had a big smile when he entered the airport at the head of the gay American group—many of them clad in Bermuda shorts—was sober-faced when he advised of the latest developments in the Olympic crisis since his party left Honolulu.

"I am naturally grieved by reports of the withdrawals of some nations," he said. "I sincerely hope Holland and the other countries will reconsider."

The American main vanguard today consisted of 16 wrestlers and 11 canoeists plus administrative officials and newspapermen.

Friday two more planeloads will land in the afternoon and early evening carrying some of the biggest names in track and field and rowing. Among them sculler Jack B. Kelly, Jr., American champion and brother of Grace, the out-

Warriors Post Victory Over Good Hope 5

Salt Creek High School cagers gained a 53 to 38 decision over Good Hope in a game played Tuesday night on the losers' court.

Holding a 21-15 lead at the end of the first half, the Warriors opened up in the final two periods to win going away.

High man for coach Robert Sander's Salt Creek crew was Van Fossen who picked up 17 points on four goals and nine free throws.

Hardman chipped in with nine markers.

Good Hope's Current picked up 16 points and Kimball had seven.

In the reserve game, Good Hope managed to edge out the Salt Creek junior varsity-men, 25 to 18.

The warriors' next contest is scheduled for Friday at Atlanta.

Score by quarters:

Good Hope 3 15 25 38

Salt Creek 12 21 35 53

standing Yale eight which is in for a tough fight to maintain American supremacy in this rowing classic, track and fielders Parry O'Brien, world record holding shotputter, Lou Jones, fastest 400 meter runner of all time, broad jumper John Bennett, sprinters Ira Murchison and Thane Baker, hurdler Jack Davis and middle distance aces Tom Courtney and Lon Spurrier.

Herb Score Voted As Top Soph Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Herb Score, Cleveland's fastballing lefthander, had even a better season in 1956 than he had in 1955 when he was named American League Rookie-of-the-year.

For his 1956 performance, Score today was voted the Sophomore-of-the-Year in the annual Associated Press poll. Herb and Frank Lary of Detroit received the bulk of the votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Score was named on 103 ballots, Lary on 63 and Johnny Kucks of the New York Yankees on 32. Tom Sturdivant of the Yanks, with four and Hector Lopez of Kansas City, Elston Howard of the Yanks, Rocky Colavito of Cleveland and Billy Klaus of Boston, who had one each, rounded out the 206 votes.

A 16-game winner in 1955 when he set an American League record for first year pitchers by striking out 245 batters, Score won 20 games in his sophomore campaign while losing only 9. He again topped the junior circuit in strikeouts with 263 and finished second to the Yanks' Whitey Ford in the earned run competition with a 2.57 average.

Gopher-Iowa Quarterbacks Work Hard

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A pair of football do-it-yourself experts vaguely disguised as T-formation quarterbacks but carrying the tools of the old-fashioned single wing tailback, bump together Saturday in the Rose Bowl payoff between Minnesota and Iowa.

The central figures in the nationally televised battle are Minnesota's Bobby Cox and Iowa's Kenny Ploen.

Where the thought of running with the ball might once have offended the T-quarterbacks, Cox and Ploen make a habit of it, and a productive one.

True, Cox operates from Minnesota's split-T, which requires the quarterback to leg it with the rest of the backs. With Cox, though, it's more than a duty. He's making a career out of it.

For the last three games the Gopher junior has averaged around 20 carries a game, for about 4.5 yards a clip. He has been Minnesota's major running threat since he first broke into the starting lineup three weeks ago.

His passing reputation prevents enemy defenses from ganging up against his running plays and his knack for digging out a couple of extra yards helps him in the tough situations.

Ploen handles himself in much the same fashion. A year ago he was lost behind another fine

Hawkeye quarterback, Jerry Reichow. This season has done more than Reichow ever did.

In 43 carries, he has averaged 5.8 yards a crack. He has completed 13 passes for 173 yards and rolled up more than 400 yards total offense.

Japan All-Stars Defeat Dodgers

SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP)—The Japan All-Stars pushed across a run in the last of the ninth inning today and again beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 before 20,000.

It was the Dodgers' fourth loss against 10 wins and one tie on their Japan tour.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

THANKS —

... to my Many Friends for your confidence and support in Tuesday's election.

Midwest's Best All-America Bets: Quarterback And Ends

CHICAGO (AP)—The Midwest's strongest All-America bids, as the football season rolls into the home stretch, are concentrated at the quarterback and end positions. This area's selection board for the AP honor team originally figured the sectional battle for quarterback honors was between Notre Dame's Paul Hornung and Purdue's Len Dawson. But now such added starters in the All-America scramble have popped up as Bobby Cox of Minnesota, Ken Pleen of Iowa and Pat Wilson of Michigan State's No. 4 team in the national AP poll. Cox and Pleen display their talents before a national TV audience Saturday in the Rose Bowl showdown between the Hawkeyes and Gophers at Minneapolis. At the end posts, Michigan's Ron Kramer and Purdue's Lamar Purdue are powerful candidates with Kramer adjudged by the board to be perhaps the Midwest's best football player at this writing. But now such added starters in 187-pound Frank Gilliam, a terror in a fine Iowa line; Leo Brown, Ohio State's amazingly good 168-pounder; Wisconsin's Dave Howard; and Tony Kolodziej, a fresh
